

BA (Hons) Creative Musicianship Scholarship Terms and Conditions 2023

The BA (Hons) Creative Musicianship award, offered as The Nova Twins Scholarship will cover the undergraduate tuition fees of one UK-based home fee status student, or one international student, for the entire three years of the ICMP BA (Hons) Creative Musicianship degree, commencing September 2023.

The closing date for entries is midnight on Sunday 30th July 2023. All applicants will receive an email confirming that their application has been received and accepted. The scholarship place will be awarded on Monday 14th August 2023. The successful recipient will be contacted by email and/or phone by no later than Tuesday 15th August 2023. Unsuccessful applicants will also be notified at this time. There is no guarantee that ICMP will offer the same scholarship each year.

Applications will be judged by a panel that will include the scholarship ambassadors, ICMP academic staff and tutors, and industry professionals. The panel's decision will be final.

The scholarship will be awarded as reductions in the course tuition fees and will be automatically deducted from the annual tuition fees upon enrolment each year, so the winner will not be charged tuition fees. The scholarship will not be paid as cash or attributed to other charges such as accommodation fees.

The scholarship cannot be transferred to any other student. Recipients must not defer their 2023 ICMP BA Creative Musicianship study offer. If they do, their scholarship offer will be invalidated.

The scholarship will be awarded over a three-year period starting in September 2023. Scholarship recipients are expected to cover their living costs for the duration of the course, although students are entitled to apply for other bursary schemes run by ICMP, alongside SLC maintenance loans.

Successful applicants must maintain continuous attendance and engagement through their degree, submitting assessments and course work in academic cycles as required and successfully progressing through the BA (Hons) Creative Musicianship degree to graduation.

Before making any changes to their course (for example: course transfer, course suspension or course withdrawal), scholarship recipients must first speak to ICMP, as these changes could invalidate their scholarship.

Any proposed interruption of studies will be considered on a case-by-case basis. If a recipient withdraws or interrupts their studies post enrolment, ICMP will discontinue their scholarship and seek repayment of any overdue payments.

By applying for an ICMP scholarship, all applicants agree to share their personal details with the scholarship panel members.

Scholarship recipients will likely be contacted throughout their studies to provide testimonial information which may be used in ongoing ICMP promotions, marketing materials or recruitment activity. They may be asked to attend or speak at ICMP events or invited to act as an ambassador for the scholarship scheme. Scholarship holders may be contacted and asked to provide testimonial information about how the scholarship has impacted their career for up to two years after the conclusion of their course. Scholarship recipients can opt out of requested marketing activity by first discussing it with the ICMP scholarship panel.

ICMP reserves the right to withdraw a scholarship if these terms and conditions are not adhered to or if the scholarship recipient is subsequently found to be ineligible. ICMP also reserves the right to amend its scholarship provision without notice.

Data Protection and confidentiality

All information and supporting documentation supplied by the applicant as part of their application will be used for the sole purpose of assessing your application. The original application, including the outcome of the application, will be held and maintained in accordance with the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).